Bishop of Spokane

DEDICATION

To His Excellency

The Most Reverend

CHARLES DANIEL WHITE

DOCTOR OF DIVINITY

By the Grace of God and of the Apostolic See

BISHOP OF SPOKANE

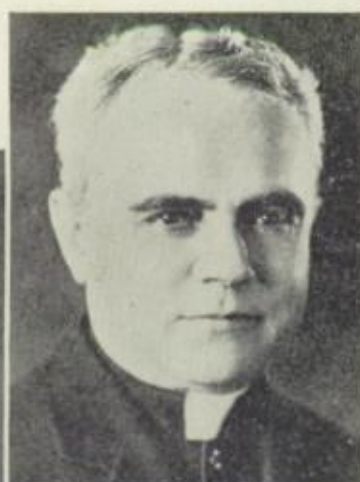

The story of Gonzaga High School, as that of the Catholic culture for which Gonzaga exists, is the story of great men. Toward the ideal of the God-Man, her Head and Founder, the Church has ever striven to lead her sons. And that striving is the purpose and form of Catholic education. Through all the years of her history she has called on great men, worthy sons, to be an inspiration—by leadership and example—to their younger brothers. These great men were Bishops of the Church; and aiding them were others, Religious, who dedicated their lives to the Pastor's flock.

Such was the past that Gonzaga has inherited. And it is Gonzaga's glory that such also is the present. For the past twenty-five years, now crowned in Jubilee, a great man and Pastor of men has been our Bishop. To him, beloved by us for his leadership and example, we dedicate this record of our year. May it be added, with all our esteem and affection, to his treasure of greatness—ad multos annos!

1927 - 1952

On March 10, 1927, His Excellency, Bishop White, consecrated on the preceding February 24 in his native city of Grand Rapids, Michigan, took formal possession of his diocese and cathedral. This historic photograph (above) records that first gathering of the faithful of Spokane around their youthful Bishop.

Rev. Gordon E. Toner, S.J., the tenth and present Principal of Gonzaga High School (1948-1952), with His Excellency the Bishop.

In the glorious sunlight of Easter week the Church of Spokane celebrated the Silver Jubilee of her Bishop. On Wednesday, April 16, 1952, their Excellencies the Most Reverend Archbishops and Bishops, the Right Reverend Abbots and Monsignori, the Very Reverend and Reverend Fathers, the Venerable Sisters, and the devoted Faithful of the Laity gathered in Our Lady of Lourdes Cathedral for the Solemn Pontifical Mass of the Most Reverend Jubilarian, Bishop White.

Archbishop Howard, of Portland in Oregon, in his sermon, told us that Bishop White had been, in a certain real sense, educated, ordained, and sent to us by his elder brother, in the Episcopate of Rome, Blessed Pius X. And as another Blessed Pius, he stood before us at the altar, and later that morning on the steps of the Cathedral, to be pictured with his people as he had been twenty-five years ago.

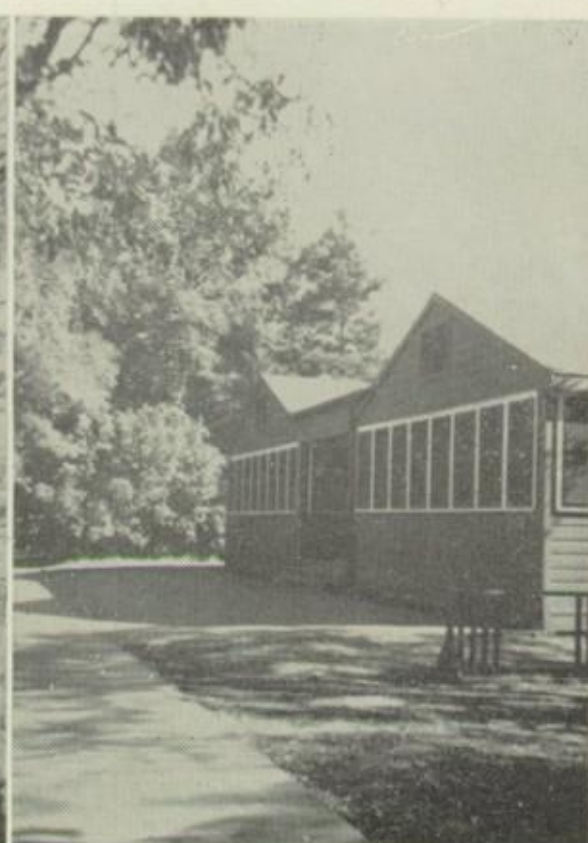

The next day, Gonzaga had her own special honor for the Bishop. Another Solemn Pontifical Mass at the Cathedral, at which the faculty were the ministers and the students were the choir and congregation, touched His Excellency's paternal heart, and from his throne he thanked us for our accompanying gift and spiritual bouquet. It was our gift to him this year, but undoubtedly, in spirit there was joined to it the gift of prayers and good wishes from all twenty-five years of Gonzaga's faculty and students that the Bishop has successively blessed. May his Jubilee blessing be as abiding as the light of the Risen Christ!

Past, Present . . .

Crowning the skyline of Gonzaga's campus—as of the entire “holy land” that stretches for blocks around—soar the spires of St. Aloysius' Church. Scene of retreats and baccalaureate exercises through the years, the warmth and splendor of old St. Al's will live long in our memories.

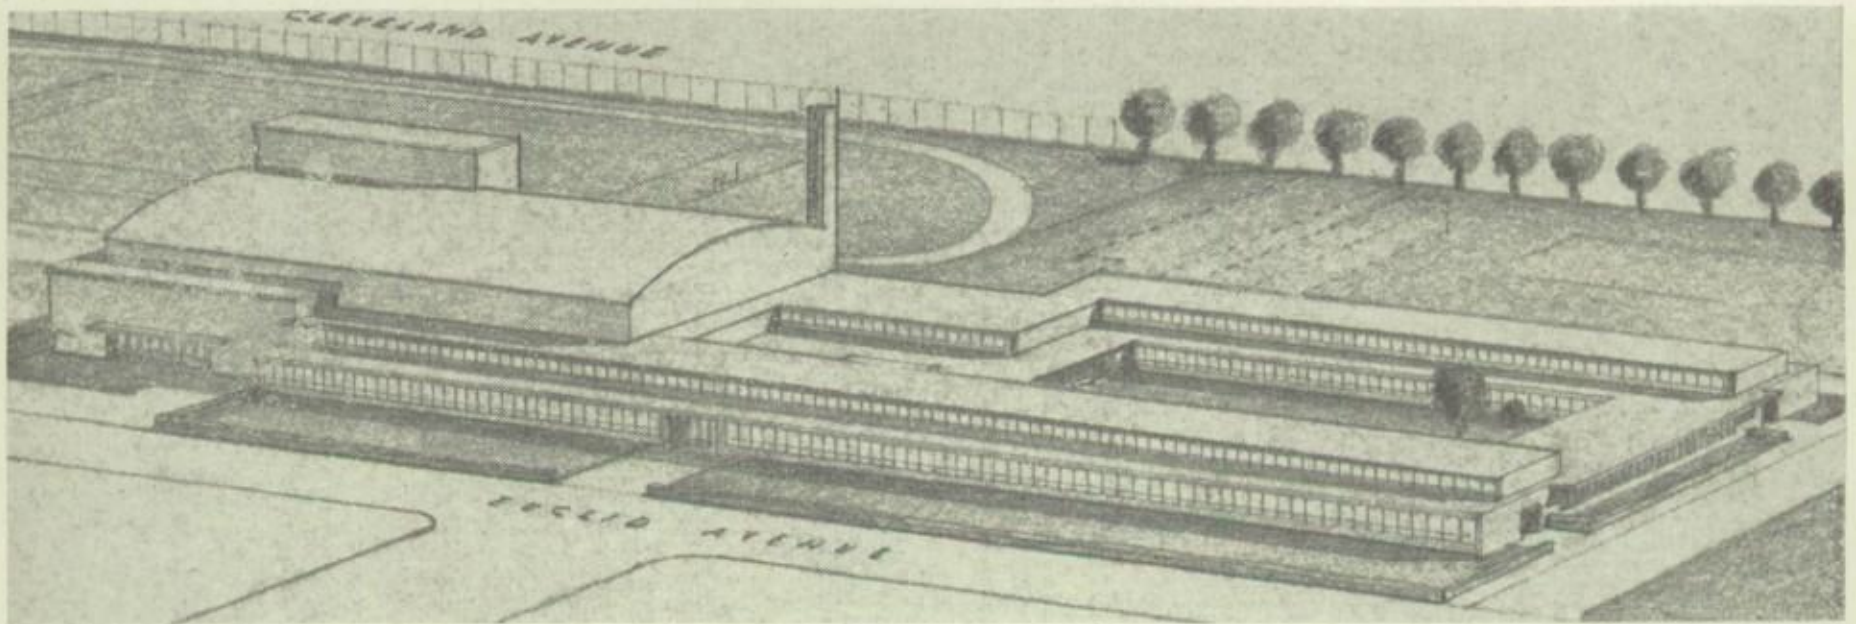

Through these three portals Gonzaga men have come and gone for nearly fifty years. From 1904, when the east wing was added to the “new” College building on Boone Avenue, until 1941 the high school students read: “For God, for Country, for the Sciences and the Arts” as they came to school (upper left). Then, with World War II and the need for a transfer to temporary quarters, they used the twin entrances of the old Webster School building (upper center). After a five-year stay at Webster and another year back in the University building, the High School retired in 1947 to its third—and present—“temporary” quarters (upper right). Lowly and a veteran of wars these past five years, the “barracks” serve the purpose of “carrying on” until a better future arrives.

Contemporaneous to all three doors and school buildings is DeSmet Hall, erected in 1925 (below). And just as perennial is its resident, the original Gonzaga student: the eternal boarder.

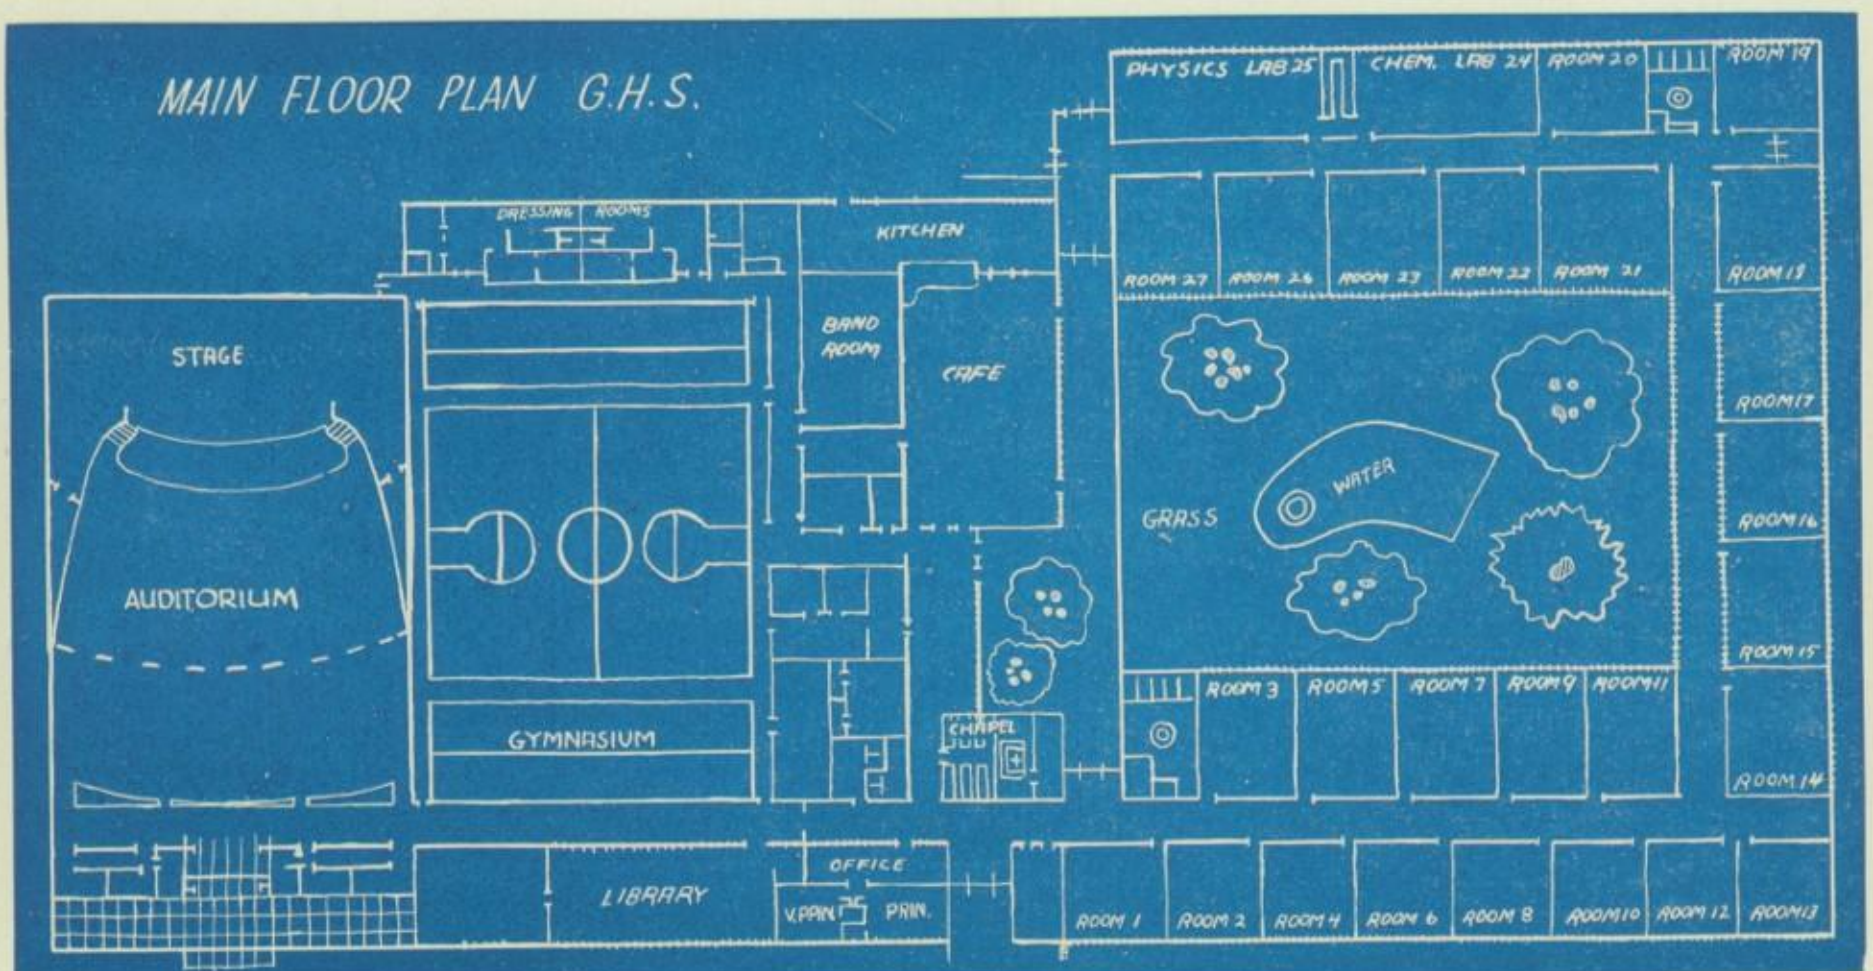

... and Future?

The architect's drawings of the new Gonzaga High School help us to visualize the dream of many years. Classrooms, chapel, auditorium, library, laboratories, gymnasium, cafeteria—a complete new plant. Here is something that Spokane and the Northwest deserve to have, and something that Gonzaga deserves to be.

But the picture of the site of the new school recalls us to the present reality. Right now we have little more than the bare earth. Yet, is there not more than this? Yes—we have the spirit right now of the new Gonzaga! We have the soul that needs—and pleads for—such a body as the one here pictured.

This Year . . . began with an advantage over previous years. We had with us, for a day in early September, the world-famous Father Lord, who told us about the Eucharistic Crusade for at least weekly Holy Communion. Thus we got a crowning goal, not only for this year but for our whole lives. The year itself then moved into gear; and under our elected student representatives, whose impressive oath of inauguration we witnessed, we started to go places! Just as stirring as the pep rallies that autumn were the daily outdoor raffles we had during the Curtis Drive. And just as successful too, for like our victorious football team we salesmen climbed the heights. But the peak of 1951 was finally gained only on that bright and gracious evening in the Civic Auditorium when, with our Bishop, we celebrated the kindred glories of Gonzaga and the Christmas season in our traditional Gonzaga Night.

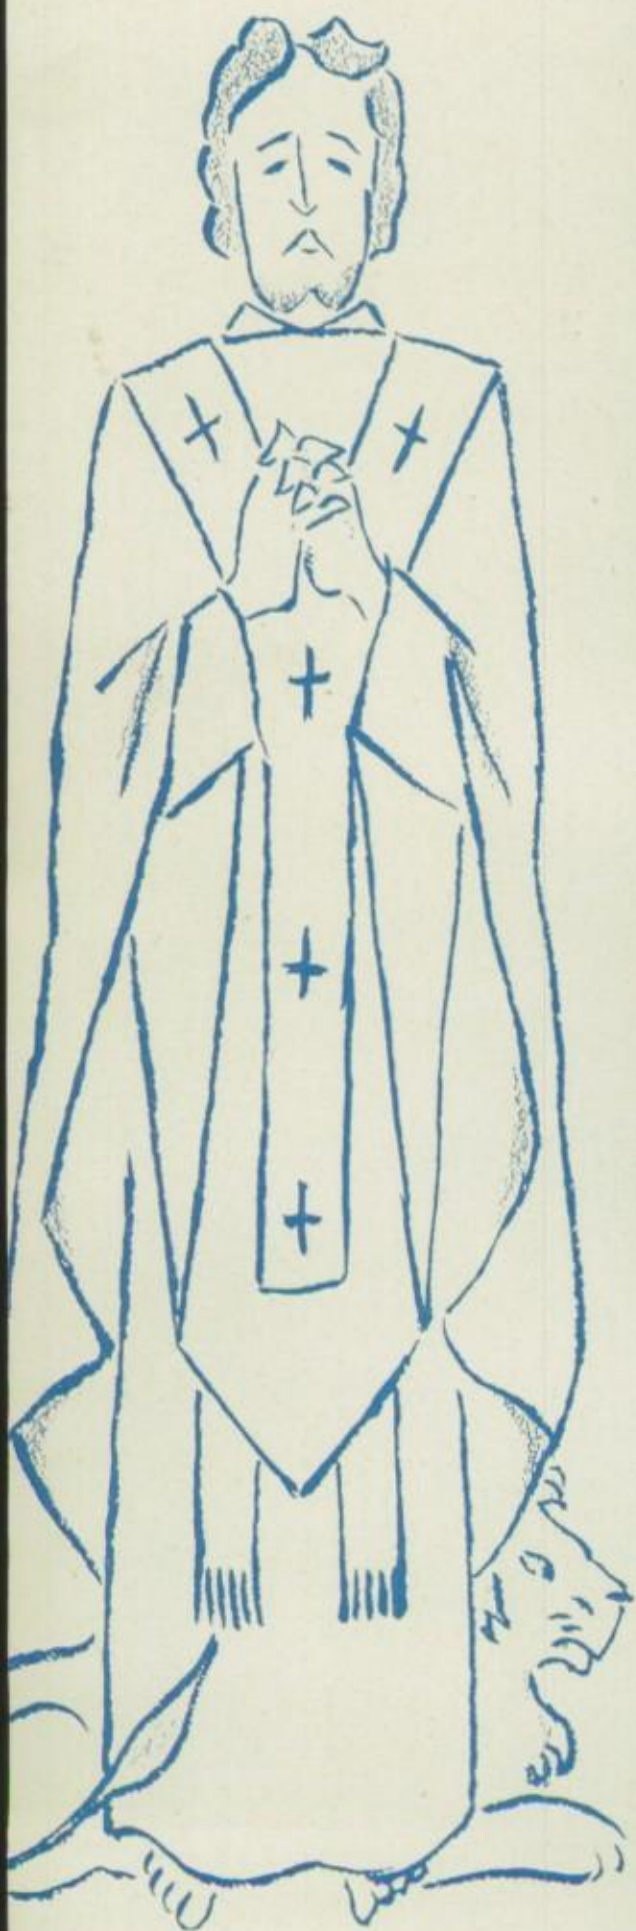

. . . A Year of Memory and Promise . . .

... Both Past and Future in One Year ...

It was already a long, white winter as the second semester got under way. But the cycle of school activities was at its height. In forensics our champion debate team stood forth in mid-career; they had won the Gonzaga University Tournament for the Pacific Northwest, and received its coveted trophy. A few weeks later, just before Lent, Harvey was brilliantly staged, and "tickets at the T" were the theme and highlight of the sales campaign in the school's halls. Then came the sure sign of spring and the end-horizon of the year: the Novena of Grace. Father Richard Bradley, like a new Xavier, proclaimed the virtues and freedom that are his alone who seeks first the Kingdom of God. Lighted thus to the end, and with Easter along the way, we came to the final goal of the year: the Commencement Exercises. A "commencement" indeed — in our full realization of the value of

ST. ANTHONY OF EGYPT

FOUNDER OF CHRISTIAN MONASTICISM

"... high and heavenly, without cowardice, without gloom . . ."

—Newman, Church of the Fathers

The first of the great men in the tradition of greatness that is Gonzaga's were the Apostles themselves. They were the first followers of our Lord, and received from Him the commission to be the first Bishops of His Church. As such they were also the custodians of His counsels—Poverty, Chastity, Obedience—whereby men through all time to come would follow most closely their Leader, Christ, to the Greater Glory of God.

It was not, however, till several generations had passed before this "mustard seed" of the Apostolic Church grew into a tree—along the Providential trellis of the Roman Empire. Its first fruits of greatness were the martyrs, among whose ranks stands the Bishop Ignatius, witness to Christ in his blood. Not long later another witness comes, a man of the new and living martyrdom called the Religious Life, the holy monk Anthony. These were men of that first great faculty called "the Fathers of the Catholic Church."

First in our record of the year come the faculty, and fittingly so. For what really makes a school is its faculty of instructors. If this be true of all schools, it is especially true of Gonzaga. For without many of the things that others think essential — spacious halls, ivied towers, verdant campus — we yet have, and have in abundance, the most important factor (next to our own mind and will to learn) in education: learned and devoted teachers. Our faculty of Jesuit Fathers and Scholastics and Catholic laymen are the best that we could desire, for knowledge of their subject, for interest in our problems, for example in living. We are truly proud and grateful that theirs—and ours—is the tradition of greatness.

The four men pictured on this page are the ones to whom is entrusted the direction and destiny of Gonzaga High School. Father Corkery, though not in direct contact with us since he is also President of the "senior" member of the Gonzaga family—the University, is nevertheless the mainspring in the present movement to get a new site and plant for the High School. And in this work he is ably assisted by Father Gubbins. Little is here needed to be said about the other "team", Father Toner and Father Hurley. Never to be forgotten are their devotion to duty and their personal interest in all of us.

A welcome calm is the Scholastics' recreation room where Masters Majeres, Gordon, King, Schlatter, DeFilipps, and Marchesini, and Mister Steckler (standing) relax for a little while at the end of the day.

The five hundred years from Constantine to Charlemagne saw the end of the world of classic antiquity and the beginning of the new world of the Middle Ages. Between the brilliant culture of old Greece and Rome and the crude habits of the Barbarians from the North a great chasm intervened. And the only bridge that could span it was a common Faith, supernaturally transcending and enclosing both old and new.

Providentially God gave the world a bridge-builder, the greatest man of his age—the Pontiff Augustine. He it was who drew the plans for the City that the Catholic Church would build in the world — a City of Man at home in the City of God. Second only to the designer-bishop was the builder-monk, Benedict. He, with his sons after him, by their union of prayer and work, built the civilization of the Christian millenium—the nearest approach yet made to the City of the God-Man.

In the epic story of those five centuries, we see the story of our own education here at Gonzaga. With little knowledge of the world and its treasure of opportunities and trials, we came to high school. We were as yet "barbarians", unaware of the high humanism that a Liberal curriculum possessed and could give us. We were great, but only potentially, in the true sense of greatness. Then, as we moved forward from year to year in our studies and contacts at school, we have gradually come to see that the true greatness consists in the union of the old traditions and the new energies, of experience and enthusiasm—of work and prayer, of the human and the divine.

ST. FRANCIS OF ASSISI

"POVERELLO", FOUNDER OF THE ORDER OF FRIARS MINOR

"The Lord gave me, Brother Francis, the grace to begin to do penance . . . (and) I adored Him in all simplicity."

—Testment

The centuries following the conversion and civilizing of Europe were the High Middle Ages, glorious in ambition and achievement. Based on the discipline of reason and the inspiration of faith—the bases so well laid by a tradition already old—the men of Medieval Europe with unparalleled energy and vision built their great and varied culture. Cathedrals, universities, the guilds, armies against the infidel, the code of chivalry—these were some of the activities that called for and made great men.

Of the bishops that lived in that age there was none greater, perhaps, than the Martyr, Thomas a Becket. At the foot of his cathedral altar, surrounded by the results of his world's activity, he showed how dying for one's Faith could be the greatest activity of all. But that martyrdom needed a living counterpart that would make alive a Faith taken too much for granted. And so another great man arose — the Seraphic Francis of Assisi. He lived a life of supreme activity, the perfect flower of the great tradition that united man with what was more than man.

Activities! public speaking, music, journalism, organizations of service and research—how we strove for distinction in them, and enjoyed the successes gained! These extra-curriculars were the flowering, the first maturing in real life of the ideals that Gonzaga was teaching us to cherish. Leadership in success, we learned, was success in leadership. But above all, we were trained to see that the highest success lay in loyalty to the highest, even if to the less than highest it seemed a failure. We were taught that man is most a man when he is more than man!

The most important days of the entire school year were Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, Nov. 19, 20 and 21. In those three days we made the Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius, a "retreat" toward the fundamental realities of our existence—as creatures of God, as followers of Christ, as sons of the Church. Before the great altar of St. Aloysius', in the presence of Our Lord in the Holy Eucharist, we took our places, as Father Flaherty spoke to us of these realities. It all had a tone of warfare about it, and Father—a soldier in World War I and a chaplain in World War II—was well able to make that warfare real to us. We are soldiers, not for World War III, but for the war—against the powers of darkness, and under the leadership of Christ the King!

"Master, go on, and I will follow Thee,
To the last gasp, with truth and loyalty."

Following the centuries-old tradition of Jesuit education, the primary extra-curricular activity of the school is the Sodality of Our Lady. The Sodality is the ideal plan for carrying out the militant Catholicism inspired by the Spiritual Exercises, for it organizes the best talent in the student body to sanctify itself, to help others, and to defend the Church, and to do all this under the banner of Our Lady—"to Jesus through Mary."

Coming now to the application of this ideal to Gonzaga, we see a perfect example of that close cooperation between the Jesuits and the Bishop which means so much to our school. The Bishop has desired for some years now to concentrate the Sodality in the parishes, since they are the basic unit of the Catholic life in which for our whole lives we are expected to participate. Hence, our Sodality work at Gonzaga is strictly supplementary to the functions and projects of our several parishes.

To help the Gonzaga men—who headed more than half the parish Sodalities and worked on the central Council itself—in the objectives and techniques of the Sodality, Father David E. Rosage, Diocesan Director, conducted a series of meetings through the year. Here the practical problems of Spokane and Gonzaga in this year 1951-52 were discussed, and solved in the context of the worldwide experience and ageless ideals of the Church Militant and its glorious Queen.

Interest in school activities was the main theme of this year's Student Council, an organization representing all the home rooms. Colorful posters depicting sports events were displayed by the group. The Council sponsored mixers and other fund-raising forms of entertainment to help defray the cost of football movies. The sale of tickets for dramatic productions was backed wholeheartedly by these student representatives. Keen interest in the individual rooms was maintained by competition for the traditional Loyalty Cup, which was awarded at the end of each quarter.

In past years the Gonzaga boarders have stood out as true leaders on the campus that is their home. This year has proved to be no exception. The "A" and "B" students among their ranks make an imposing number. They have sponsored dances from time to time, one of which—their Christmas Ball—was a magnificent success. The boarders' varsity basketball team reigned almost undefeated throughout the season. And they have also contributed many top athletes to our various high school teams. All in all, the boarders have made an outstanding mark in the record for 1952, just as their great forebears have in all the years since Gonzaga first began.

Debate

Standing: John Carbon, Dave Holland, Jim Kraft, Joe Gagliardi, LeRoy MacFarland, Herb McDonald, Gerald White.

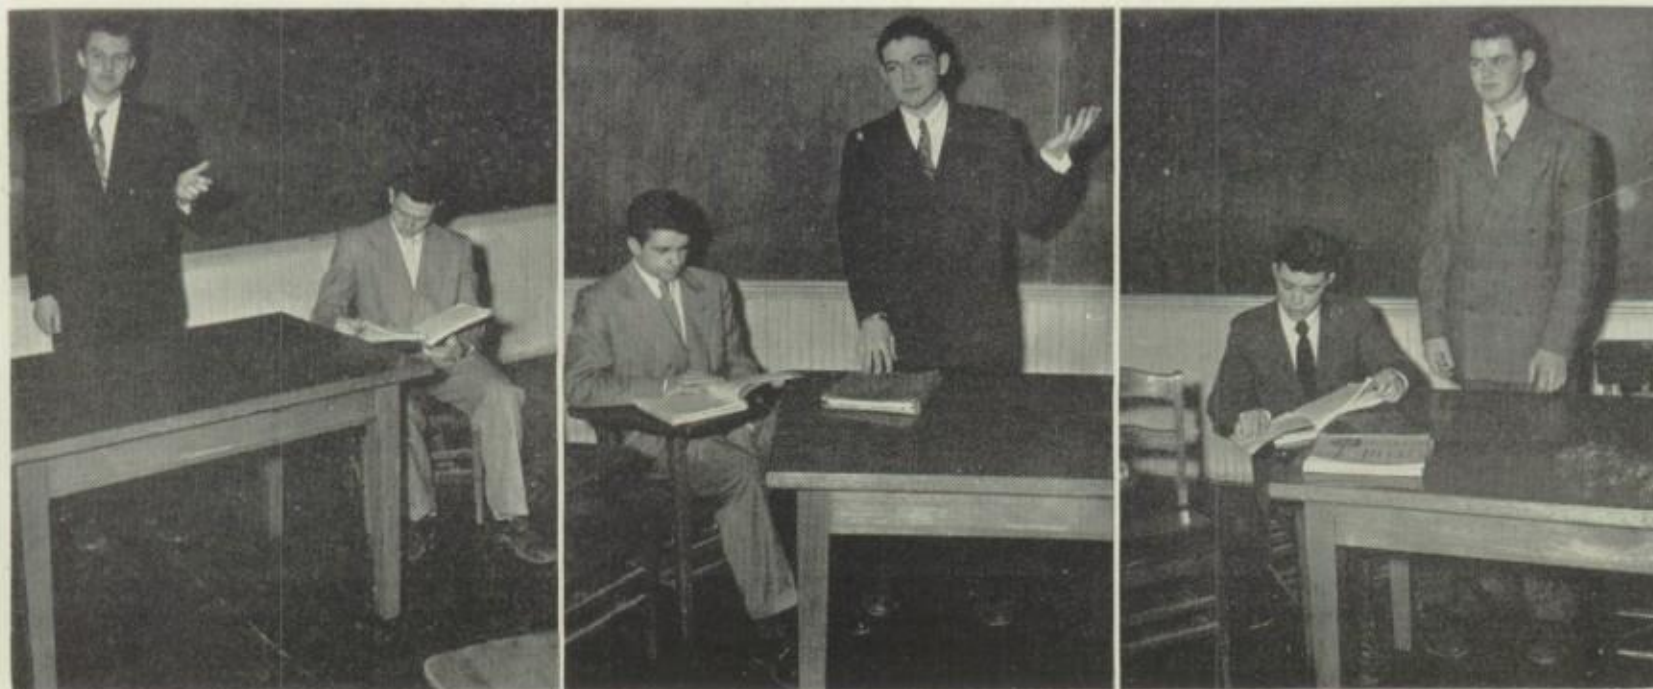

Collegium Disputandi—eloquent name for an eloquent group!—had a year of rich and rewarding experience. True to the oldest and dearest traditions of Gonzaga, the debaters entered the lists of contest after contest to renew their school's outstanding forensic reputation.

Against the background of the more or less regularly spaced debates of the "League"—the Northeast District of the State's official debate organization—the debaters attended four tournaments, of which they won three. The frequent wins and rare losses made Gonzaga a most respected contender, and the individual members of the team perhaps the most widely known and admired debaters in the Pacific Northwest.

All in all, theirs was a training that could hardly be matched for its scientific values of research and organization, its artistic values of presence and expression, and—above all—its moral values of sincerity and perseverance.

Under the leadership of Mister Bradley, coach and moderator, the varied successes—both apparent and hidden—of Collegium Disputandi cannot indeed be disputed!

Resolved: that all American citizens should be subject to conscription for essential services in time of war. This national debate question was handled, on both the affirmative and the negative, by these three teams, the range and depth of which were comparable with Gonzaga's greatest. Ned Johnston, brilliant in "bon mots"; Gary Greif, master of the grand manner; Dave Holland, expert in cross-examination; Jim Herlihy, adept in analytical acumen; Herb McDonald, aggressive with "sweetness and light"; Jim Flynn, rousing in resume and rebuttal;—all in all, six facets of an "epitome of debate"!

Mister Bradley and his cohort—Pacific Northwest Prep Champions!

No other extra-curricular activity at Gonzaga reflects more accurately the ideals and methods of Jesuit education than does "the activity of the forum"—forensics. For here are the liberal arts in action; skill in thinking and skill in expressing thought. And here also is "emulation", the competitive striving for a prize.

Gonzaga's forensic opportunities are indeed varied. The intramural contests include the Apologetics, the Declamation, and the Elocution, both Senior and Junior. Then, in competition with other schools, besides debating, are the following oratorical contests: the Voice of Democracy, Washington State Resources, Jefferson Oratory, and Hearst's "Great Americans." Finally, in the two regular forensic tournaments of the year—at Seattle University and Gonzaga University—are events in Extempore, Impromptu, Dramatic Reading, and Original Oratory.

FORENSICS

Sacred Oratory

Crowning the forensic season at Gonzaga High was the annual Competition in Sacred Oratory—popularly known as the Apologetics Contest. The six contestants delivered original orations on various points of Catholic faith or morals, for the purpose of convincing by explanation, application, or defense. This event, since its formal revival last year, has been generously sponsored by the Spokane Council of the Knights of Columbus, and has been blessed by His Excellency the Bishop.

In the various extramural forensic events of the year, two students shared the honors of representing Gonzaga. Herb McDonald (left) spoke on the conservation of salmon, for the Washington State Resources contest, February 26, but was not "fishy" enough to win. The following week, however, he retrieved his prestige in a more suitable topic—"Jefferson, Man of the West"—when, on March 4, he won the "area" contest in Jefferson Oratory, sponsored by the Spokane Jeffersonian Club. He went on to the finals, April 19.

Gary Greif (right, with Mr. Brownson, of the Spokane J. C.'s) scored his first triumph by placing first in the state in the Radio Broadcasters' "Voice of Democracy" contest. Gary went on to win the Pacific Coast championship, which put him among the top twelve of the nation. On April 26, he represents Gonzaga in the Hearst-sponsored "Tournament of Orators," with another prospect of state and national honors.

Declamation

This year for the first time Gonzaga had a formal contest in "Declamation"—a combination of Elocution (though non-dramatic) and Oratory (though non-original). The selections were limited to the field of British and American orators; but the overflow crowd that evening found that limitation hardly confining as the contestants covered the wide range from the sonorous periods of a Burke to a Bryan's vivid thrusts! The future of the contest is assured.

Interscholastic Oratory

To make of theory a practical experience, to make actual an ideal, is a task that takes effort and perseverance. The ideal and theory of forensic excellence is no exception; it too demands work for its realization. Fortunately—and it is a matter for gratitude—we had teachers true to the school's traditions, and willing to work long and hard for us.

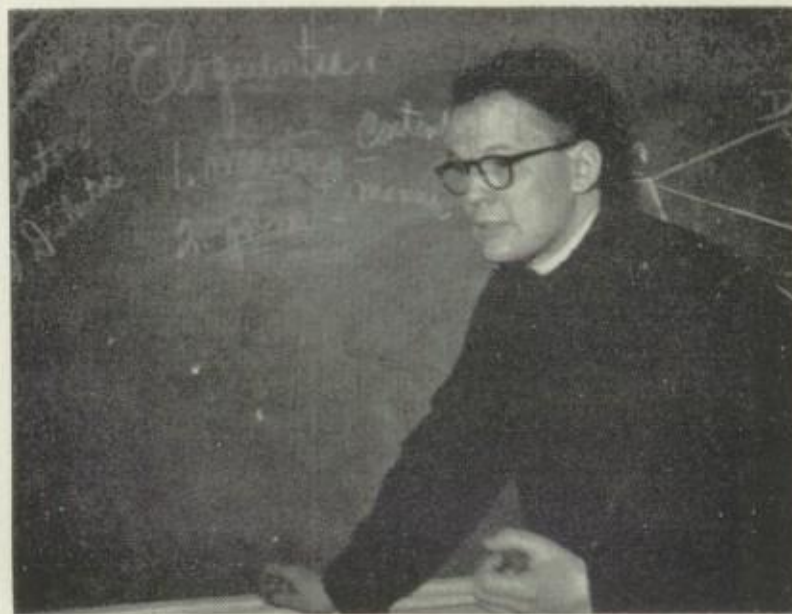

ELOCUTION

Perhaps the oldest continuous contest at Gonzaga, and certainly the most popular, is the Elocution Contest. Divided into the Senior (for Seniors and Juniors) and Junior (for Sophomores and Freshmen) contests, it offers a perfect opportunity for the discovery and initial development of any natural forensic talent. For, since the content of the required speeches are memorized and dramatic selections, the emphasis is on expression as such—the eloquentia of tradition, which so nicely balanced the inner interpretation with the outward technique. The selections chosen by the contestants this year (even though old Spartacus and Richard III and Casey were strangely absent!) indicate the typical variety and interest which has characterized the Elocution Contest through the years.

Gonzaga Night

"Gonzaga Night, 1951" was a successful break from former tradition. Instead of the usual one-act plays, the entertainment on that evening of December 16 consisted of talent—Gonzaga talent. His Excellency, Bishop White, with Fathers Corkery and Toner, witnessed the performance from a special purple-draped box on the mezzanine of the Civic Auditorium.

As Grand Marshal, Herb McDonald had the pleasure of introducing the Gonzaga High School Band, under the direction of Mister McNaught. Then the football letters were awarded, and Mister Frazier announced that Max Wiltzius had won the Kennelly Inspirational Award. Following that, and in tune with the times, the Glee Club, with Mister King directing, gave its Christmas concert.

The four Class Marshals used the extra-curricular activities at G.H.S. for their theme. Frosh Marshal John Kingery cited the journalistic undertakings of the school as his subject. Music was Sophomore Marshal Bob Pederson's topic. The Marshal of the Class of '53, Jim Nelson, talked on the athletic achievements of Gonzaga High. And the Senior Marshal, Jim Herlihy, spoke on the forensic accomplishments of the Gonzaga man.

The awarding of the Gonzaga Night Cup to the seniors for the best entertainment of the evening completed a show of which Father Keating, its director, and the audience could well be proud.

Coach Bill Frazier tells the parents and friends of Gonzaga about his—and their—favorite championship team.

"Mountain Dew" fairly dripped from the guitars of the Chambers Brothers, Houston and Leo, and the banjo of Karl Walterskirchen in what was probably the most novel number of the evening.

Sock and Buskin

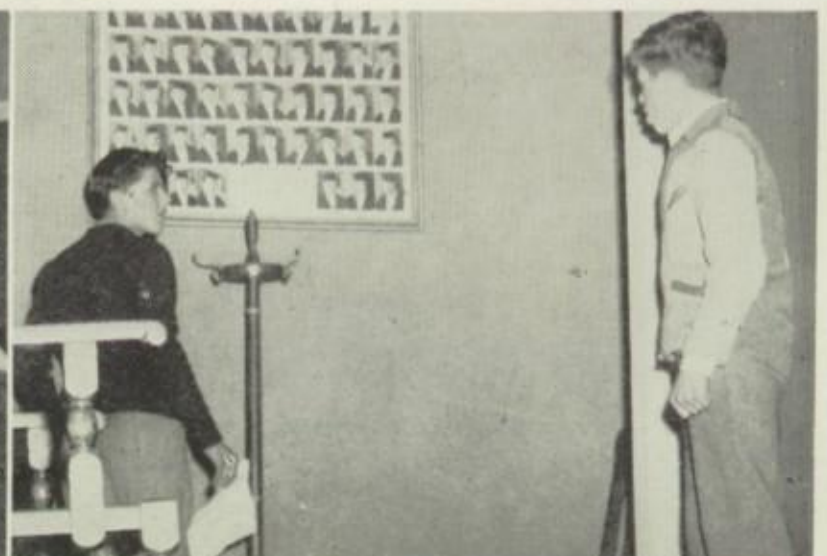

Named for the "sock" that the comedians and "buskin" that the tragedians wore in the classic drama of ancient Greece, the dramatic club at Gonzaga has long enjoyed a well-earned fame for industry and success. This year has brought that fame to new heights. For, under the dynamic leadership of Father Keating, the men of the Sock and Buskin produced two three-act plays that will rank with the best that Gonzaga's friends have seen for many years.

The first play, What A Life, mirrored well the life and times of the typical high school kid. The second, Harvey, though more sophisticated, was equally well done. In fact, there was a real professionalism on the part not only of the actors but also—and just as important—of the stage crews in the wings and the managers and ushers up front. And outside the Canteen, to the campus and beyond went the ticket sellers and promoters, in a teamwork performance as dramatic as the plays themselves.

GONZAGA LITTLE THEATER
February 20, 21, 24, and 25, 1952

As early as the first week of September there were signs that this would be an all-out "show year" for Gonzaga. The first presentation was for the Merry-Go-Round, when out of the trailer parts and paint buckets behind Goller Hall leaped a flashing rebirth of The Olympic Games! Our bronzed athletes easily won the laurels that night. And the football season—season of pageantry—ended even more brightly for us than it began. On All-City Night we stole the show with the snappy song and dance of Me And My Shadow, in black and white. In the late autumn we went indoors to study and enjoy the trials and triumphs of Henry Aldrich, and What A Life it was! Then, after Gonzaga Night and the Christmas holidays, came that fantastic friendship of Elwood P. and Harvey!

W.S. GILBERT

OVERTURE

Rev. Will Keating, S.J. (left), and Mr. James King, S.J. (right), directors and producers par excellence.

As the days lengthened toward spring, the breath of music returned; and what more exhilarating than the songs of a wandering minstrel, a tit-willow and a Mikado!

The floor and balconies of the Civic Auditorium rang with applause as the curtain swung down on the finale of a fine and well-filled year.

Glee Club

"The most outstanding performance of the show!" These were the words that greeted the Gonzaga High School Glee Club after their performance on All-City Night. But these words of praise were not to end there. Although their laurel wreath had its beginnings that evening, Gonzaga Night saw the first fitting. The holiday crowd heard one of the best Christmas programs that has ever come from G.H.S. Under the direction of Mister King, the Gleemen thrilled the audience with their stirring interpretations.

But the best of all was saved till the last. On Thursday evening, April 3rd, in the Civic Auditorium, the Glee Club presented the concert version of The Mikado. This favorite Gilbert and Sullivan operetta made a tremendous hit with everyone, and made the laurel wreath upon the Glee Club's brow that much more glorious.

Sixth Row: John Holgren, Joe Kaley, John Warner, Armand DeFelice, Bill Ray, John Field, David Sweet, Harry Lang, Paul McNabb.

No glee club is complete without a quartet. Again this year Gonzaga's Quartet was very popular with the attentive crowds. Their departure from the old "barber shop quartet" style of singing was a welcome change to those who like popular American music. The foursome, composed of Tom Driscoll, first tenor, Roy MacFarland, second tenor, Lee Kaley, baritone, and Al Becker, bass, with accompaniment by John Warner, gave the Glee Club that extra little push needed to achieve complete success.

Band

Again this year Mr. McNaught has shown that the band is indeed worthy of representing Gonzaga High School in public. Its performance at the football games was one of the reasons for the increased spirit of the student body. Throughout the school year, at basketball games, pep rallies, and convocations, the band kept the crowd jumping with vigor and spirit.

Gonzaga Night showed our parents and friends that the members of the band had absorbed a great deal of instruction and musical knowledge from their director. Their performance in The Mikado was hailed by many as one of the greatest the Gonzaga High music department has ever produced. Indeed Mr. McNaught and the whole student body can be proud of their talented musicians.

This year saw the formation of a Gonzaga Pep Band. Their initial performance at the Sock and Buskin's play, What a Life, was a complete surprise to the audience. Up to that time, no one knew that a pep band had been organized. As the school year progressed and their music improved, they became increasingly popular, and were well received wherever they played. This melodious ensemble is composed of Bernard Whitney, Jim Herlihy, Bill Weller, Dick Lewis, Dell Hoover, and Dick Duggan.

BISHOP WHITE CELEBRATES SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Thompson, McCarthy Elected for Final Half; Workcuff Repeats

The "McNally Gang" did it again! Phil Thompson, making an excellent switch from pigskin grabbing to vote catching, led the pack in a close presidential contest. The race for second place was a photo-finish, with Bill McCarthy squeezing into the Vice Presidency. Don Barker, Fred Hepton and Bob Gariepy could not keep pace with St. Aloysius' boys. Three more members of this year's football champs, Tom Little, Kymph Workcuff, and Bill Gibson, filled the other cabinet posts.

This year's campaign gave the school a temporary "new look." Little of the walls and ceilings was visible after last minute pamphlets announcing Phil Thompson's qualities were distributed. McCarthy's balloons, loaded with life-saver premiums, attracted the most attention, although comments on Grief's promise of a "new Reich" fluttered through the pre-election conversations.

Big Tom Little, stalwart gridiron lineman, will tackle the Secretary post in the coming semester. Tom managed to charge across the finish line slightly ahead of his two opponents, Keith Kaonis and Gary Grief.

Plans Ready For School

Although plans for the beginning of the new Gonzaga High School didn't materialize, hopes are again running high for next year. The property, which is located in the heart of the north side, has been rounded out by the purchase of one and a half blocks of new territory. This makes the property one solid block of land. The streets which were supposed to run through the property have been vacated and the architect's plans are nearing completion so there is still hope that a New Gonzaga High School may someday exist.

ability last fall was sufficient evidence to the voters that he should retain his job as guard of the purse strings. "Clem" McCanna's last-minute signs were to no avail.

Letters Awarded To Thirty-Four

Thirty-four football players were awarded the coveted white "G" at the annual Gonzaga Night Program. Coach Bill Frazier also presented the Kenelly Inspirational Award to senior, Max Wiltzius, the man chosen by his teammates as the player most inspirational to them during the gridiron season.

In the entertainment half of the program, which featured a talent show, the class of '52 walked off with first place trophy for the class presenting the best talent.

Singers Finish Full Schedule

The first big public appearance that the Keys of G took part in was the annual All-City Night. It was the general opinion of the Fox theatre audience that the stunt presented by Gonzaga was the best on the program. Since that time the Glee Club has steadily climbed the ladder of success.

Next was the yearly Gonzaga Night which afforded another opportunity for the Gleemen to show their wares. They sang several selections, most of which were Christmas Carols.

April brought showers of song from the throats of the forty-eight members of the club. Mr. King's men presented Gilbert and Sullivan's comic operetta, "Mikado," in concert at the Civic Auditorium, in early April.

DON'T FORGET

Father John Evoy conducted the Senior Retreat, May 14, 15, 16.

The Junior Prom was held at the Spokane Club May 16. Seniors were guests of the Junior Class.

Dramatists Complete Year; Two Comedies Presented

A revitalized Sock and Buskin Club, under the direction of Fr. Will Keating, had one of its most successful years in the last decade this year. The dramatists staged two successful three act plays.

The first, "What a Life," was a laugh sensation throughout the city. The second, also a comedy, was the delightful fantasy, "Harvey." Both productions were well presented and received.

"What a Life," the original Henry Aldrich comedy by Clifford Goldsmith, starred Dan Connolly, as Henry, and George McGarry as his girl friend, Barbara. The action of this play centered around the life of Henry at high school.

The club's second comedy featured Mike Glass in the role of the loveable Elwood P. Dowd of the Broadway smash hit "Harvey." The plot of this fantasy evolves around the easy going Dowd who causes all sorts of trouble with his invisible friend Harvey.

Initiation Nite Discontinued

Early last September these harsh words echoed from the mouth of Fr. Gordon Toner, "There will be no Frosh Night." This came as a blow to most upperclassmen but as a savior to lower classmen. Fr. Toner cited many reasons why the age-old tradition was being discontinued, among them was the fact that the initiation of freshmen was carried too far and by the wrong people. And the numerous calls which irate citizens made over the destruction of property, from boys running across it and the noise which they made until late at night, all added up to one thing—no Frosh Night.

Students Show Honor at Solemn Pontifical High Mass

The Silver Jubilee of His Excellency, Most Rev. Charles D. White was celebrated by the students of Gonzaga High School at a Pontifical High Mass in Our Lady of Lourdes Cathedral, April 17. Bishop

White was the celebrant for the Mass and Fr. Gordon Toner acted as Arch Priest, Fr. Chapman, Deacon, Mr. Bradley, Sub-Deacon, Frs. Kunz and Menard, Deacons of Honor, and Fr. Keating, master of ceremonies. The Mass was sung by the Gonzaga High School Glee Club and the Mount St. Michael's Choir.

The students of the High School honored Bishop White with a spiritual bouquet and a $500 gift fund, in appreciation for his twenty-five years of faithful service to the Diocese of Spokane. The University also honored His Excellency on the same day, at a reception on the University campus. They presented the Bishop with an honorary degree of Doctor of Literature.

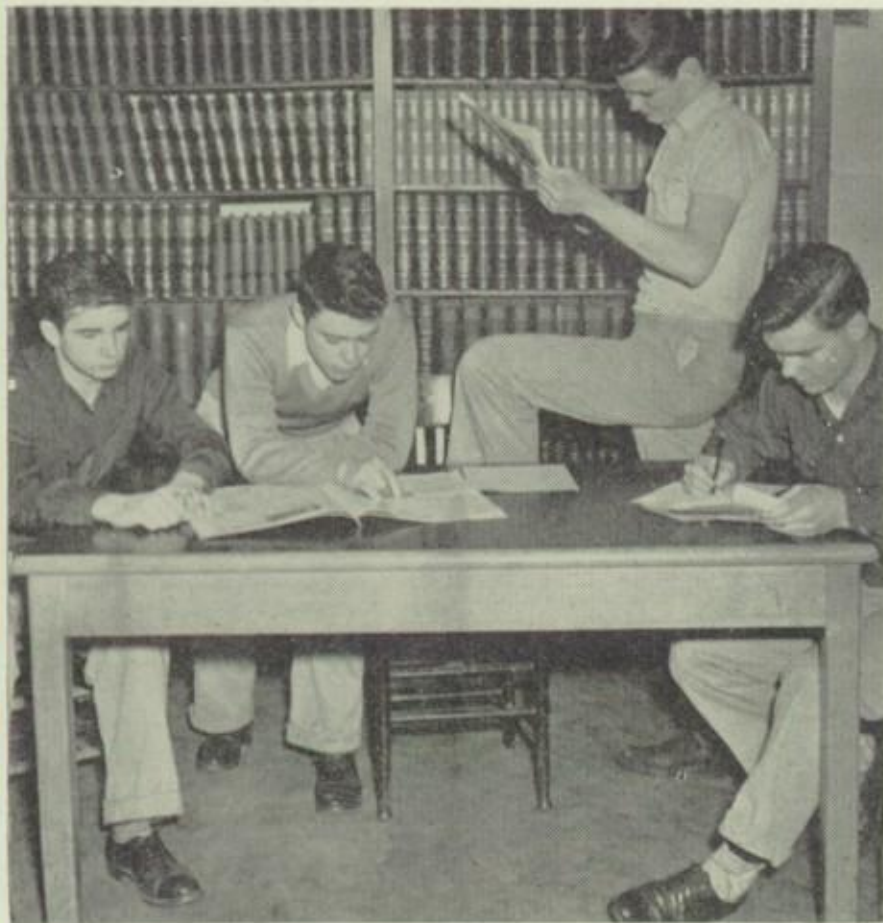

Debate Team Gains Tournament Wins

"Trophies, trophies, trophies, what will we do with them all?" This is the problem which faces Gonzaga's victorious Debaters. The already crowded trophy case has had several additions made to it during the last year.

The first taste of victory came to Gonzaga's debaters at the Seattle University tournament where they swept the field, winning both first and second place debate trophies. The four-man team of Grief, Johnston, Herlihy and Holland won first place and the two-man team of Flynn and McDonald garnered second place.

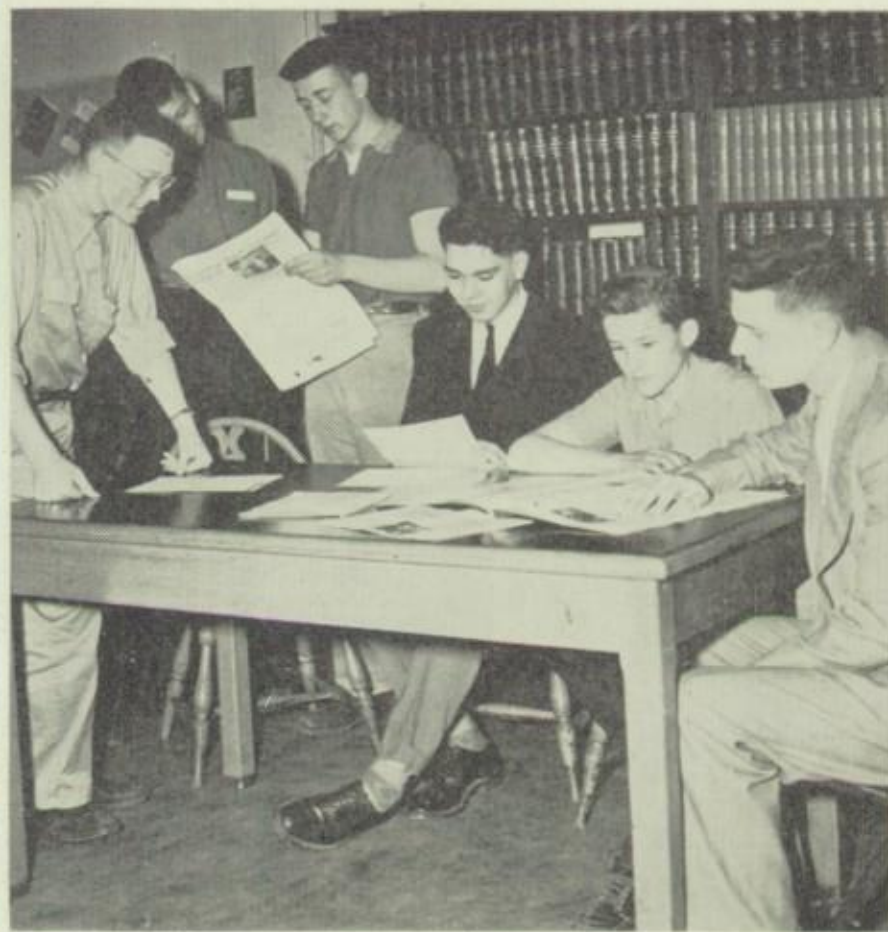

More victories followed with the team winning first at the Gonzaga University tournament in February, and again at E.W.C.E. By their victory at Cheney they won their way to the State Tournament at Pullman where they placed third.

"Behind the scenes" is a phrase that connotes feverish activity, be it applied to the gridiron, a work of art, or a B-36. A great amount of work goes into each of these things. On the gridiron there are many single plays and hours of gruelling practice that go into one hour of playing time. So too, in planning the yearbook, many layouts were suggested, but only one finally emerged. Hours upon hours of work are needed to produce the harmony of a work of art. The same was true of our final product, this book. Again, as in the case of the B-36 where a thousand diagrams go into the making of one small part of the huge plane, over two thousand photographs were taken for this job, but only an approximate four hundred were selected. Of the thousands of words that were written but a few hundred appear in the final description. As whole months of work are buried in most things of achievement, so this year's book is truly a "year's work" as well. You may read through this book in a few hours' time, but "behind the scenes" there is a year of work—and a year of memory.

ATHLETICS

ST. IGNATIUS LOYOLA
(1491 - 1556)

PRIEST, FOUNDER OF THE SOCIETY OF JESUS

"If there can be found a man who works harder for the favor of his temporal lord than (we) do for that of (our) heavenly King, (we) must look upon (ourselves) as slackers."

—Letter to Schols. of Coimbra, 2

The Europe of the sixteenth century was an arena wherein was decided the destiny of the modern world. The Renaissance, the rise of the middle class, the discovery and exploration of America, the Protestant Revolt, all signalized the revolution that broke the old unity of Medieval civilization, and gave the Catholic Church its greatest challenge yet: the true rebirth of Europe—and the world—through a conquest of its new life for Christ.

This great campaign of the Catholic Reform required the work of both the hierarchy and the religious orders. And a great man from the ranks of each arose to lead the Church. The first was the Bishop, Charles Borromeo. Prince of the Rebirth and Pastor of souls, he symbolized the perfect bishop—the perfect man, in charity. The other leader was the soldier, Ignatius Loyola, companion-in-arms with Christ, King of heaven and earth. His entire being was to aid the Kingdom, the Church Militant, in its contest for souls. And teamed together, Loyola and Borromeo fought—and won.

Gonzaga's life stems in direct line—through four hundred years—from the work of these great men. The battle they fought—in teamwork, against odds—remained an inspiration to us as we eagerly sought our share in Gonzaga's prowess on the field of competition. To build a sound body, to complete the wholeness of the sound manhood we had as our goal, was a high motive for our athletics. But higher still was the motive of loyalty and desire of sacrifice that kept us teamed together against whatever odds to the very end. The modern world is an embattled one, and in it we are prepared to live, not merely to endure but to conquer—for Christ the King.

Athletic Staff

Father Jahn, Athletic Director, looks on as his Assistant, Mister Nelson, reports on some equipment in the property room.

Man is a creature composed of body and soul. The education of the Gonzaga man treats not only the broadening of the soul's faculties, the intellect and the will, but also the strengthening of the body. Without a strong body man's soul cannot easily remain strong and his faculties cannot ripen normally. For this reason Gonzaga provides a sufficient sports program for its students. In the execution of their duties Gonzaga's athletic staff also helps form individual character, and contributes directly to the addition of good sportsmanship and teamwork to the list of the attributes of a Gonzaga man. Truly then, Gonzaga develops the whole man.

The "good and faithful servants"—the Athletic Managers—at inventory work in the property room: Bill Shanks, Mike Murphy, Dave Druffel, Mike Casey, Dick Nichols, Dave Willis, Bob Auvil, Terry Inman, and Don Stevenson.

Football

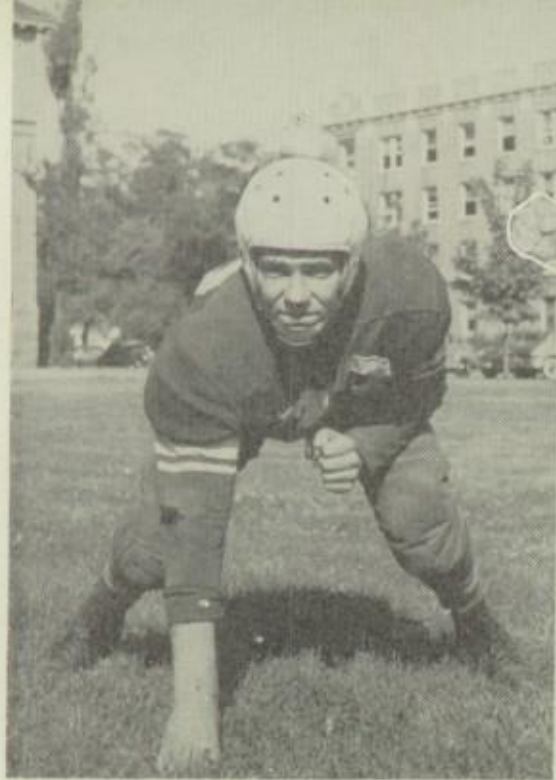

As the leaves began to take on added color, the tradition-deep extra-curricular activities of Gonzaga were centered around the football team. Pre-season prognosticators saw nothing but defeat for the Boone Avenue eleven. The Bullpups opened the season by placing third in the Merry-Go-Round and losing their first two games. Outsiders were convinced that lack of material had finally stymied Coach Bill Frazier and his able assistant, Don Miller. However, as the season progressed the team progressed, as the papers put it, "from rags to riches." Frazier instilled the old Gonzaga spirit into this, his "favorite bunch of guys." His reward was a city co-championship and the SWAB award of "Inland Empire Coach of the Year." Gonzaga played no games in which they were not outweighed in muscle, but such men as 130-pound Max Wiltzius, Kennelly Inspirational Award winner, and Captain Phil Thompson proved that brain and attitude can overcome brawn.

Even the most loyal Gonzaga fans agreed that it just wasn't the Bullpups' year. They found themselves forced to agree with Zag mentor Bill Frazier when he said, "We won't win many this year, but we'll have a lot of fun and do a lot of experimenting."

The annual Merry-Go-Round Friday night, Sept. 14, failed to raise any spirits around the Boone Avenue campus as the Zags barely edged out North Central's Indians for third place. The grandstand quarterbacks confidently stated that the Bullpups were conserving their strength for Richland's Bombers the next night.

However the Bombers blitzed the Pups that next night, Saturday, Sept. 15, and an outfought Boone Avenue club came out on the short end of a 33-12 count. Jack McKenna and Bill Hunton crossed the goal line for the Zags.

The underdog Irish continued to live up to pre-season fears Sept. 20 evening, as they were outcharged by the N. C. Indians, 32-7. Quarterback Bob Bourbeau bootlegged for Gonzaga's only counter, and Jack McKenna converted for point No. 7. Thompson, Barrington, and Weir played standout ball in the Zag line.

Coach Frazier cleared the bench the following Friday night, Sept. 28, when the win-hungry Bullpup eleven chewed up the Rogers line to the tune of a revengeful 39-7. Bourbeau passed to Thompson for two TD's, and Olson scored two more to lead in the scoring. The line play was sparked by Thompson, Nelson, Workcuff, DeFelice, and Weir. The team lost the services of Jack McKenna when he broke his arm.

Led by Bob Bourbeau's accurate passing and John Olson's hard running, the Zags became strong contenders for the city title by bowling over Lewis and Clark, 20-6, in their only afternoon game, Friday, Oct. 5. The Bullpup field general passed to Jerry Seitz for one TD, and scored one himself after Kymp Workcuff blocked a Tiger punt. Ken Kimbrough scored the other counter, and Leo Chandler converted twice. Thompson, Wiltzius, Weir, Workland, and Nelson led a rugged forward wall.

In the most thrilling game of the season, Friday night, October 12, the red-hot Pups overcame a 13-0 lead to beat Rogers 19-13 in the annual Shrine classic. Fullback Bill Hunton scored one touchdown, and a pass from Bourbeau to Nelson made the score 13-12. Leo Chandler drop-kicked the crucial conversion late in the fourth quarter. Minutes later, John Olson crossed the goal for the final score.

The mud, rain, and bad luck of Friday, Oct. 19, were too much for the Irish as they dropped a tough 12-6 decision to the state's top-ranking Blue Devils of Walla Walla. Hunton, Olson, Nelson, and Bourbeau sparked the ball carriers. Weir, Wiltzius, DeFelice, and Thompson led a line that played their hearts out right up to the last gun.

North Central's Indians took their first city-league loss Friday, Oct. 26, when the hard-charging Pups downed them 26-13. Jim Nelson led the scoring with two touchdowns, one of them a spectacular pass interception. Quarterback Bourbeau scored one TD and passed for another. Hard-running John Olson and Jerry Mahar figured in nearly every Bullpup score.

The battling Zag eleven cinched a tie for the city championship on Friday, Nov. 2, as they downed the L. C. Tigers 28-18. Nelson and Olson each scored on passes from Bourbeau. Bill Frazier, Jr., added the three conversions. Weir, Gibson, DeFelice, Little and Thompson stood out in line play. The win marked a spectacular finish for a team picked by all to wind up the season in no better position than third.

The Boone Avenue eleven finished the season as they swarmed over winless Yakima, 47-20, Tuesday night, Nov. 12, to secure second place in the newly formed Columbia Basin Conference. Gonzaga's grid mentor, Bill Frazier, who did such a fine job with a supposedly poor club, sent his entire squad into action. John Olson led the scoring with three TD's, two of these 85 and 90 yard kickoff returns. Jim Nelson scored twice, and Hunton and Seitz each counted once. Bob Bourbeau's passes to Phil Thompson accounted for the wide winning margin. The five conversions by Bill Frazier, Jr., gave future Zag teams promise of higher scores. Wiltzius, Workcuff, DeFelice, and Little played excellent ball in a star-packed line.

Basketball

This year the Bullpup basketekers really took it on the chin. Starting out the season fairly well, they soon hit snags which after that never left them. But though the record shows defeat after defeat, the team yet maintained the old Gonzaga spirit by proving that besides giving it, they could take it too. Moreover, not a single game proved to be a "soft touch" for their opponents. It was always a close margin, usually won or desperately hung on to in the final quarter. The Bullpups had a rough year, all right; but with eight returning lettermen, next year should be a different story!

The "B's"

Though the Junior Varsity teams failed to bring home any championships, they proved conclusively that Gonzaga men can take defeat as well as victory. There may be no real substitute for a championship; yet the "B's" proved themselves humble gladiators. Anyone can take a victory in stride, but few can take defeat as it should be taken.

The Greenies proved themselves worthy Gonzagans, and promise to make a great future for Zag athletics. Although they did not come home with championships, as previous teams have done, yet they finished with runner-up laurels. The baseball and track season was not completed when this was written, so there may yet be some champion frosh in '52.

Intramural

The core of any sports program in school is the students themselves. Many boys who want to compete in inter-school athletics do not get the chance to do so. That is where the intramural games come in. They draw much enthusiasm and provide good results. They help instill the spirit of competition and the initiative to get ahead. And last but not least, intramurals provide a welcome relief from the pressure of the books!

The men of old DeSmet have left a high mark of achievement in Gonzaga sports this year. They showed great fight and spirit in winning approximately three-fourths of the games they played. Let the "day bugs" remember that they are attending what was once exclusively a boarding school!

Boarders

Spring Sports

As the leaves popped green along the bare branches and the sun climbed high and hot in the shimmering sky, spring fever hit hard! Oh, for a shady tree and a fishing stream! But school must go on . . . So the only liberation from the intolerable system lay in spring sports.

Baseball and track, ranking with football and basketball as "major", led the list, and great were our prospects in both. Then there were golf and tennis, and the frosh divisions of track and baseball—all of them great as the only cure for spring fever!

Unfortunately we cannot give a full account of the baseball team, because the LUIGIAN will have been published before the season's end. But on the basis of an early game played with the W.S.C. JV's, which the Zags lost by only two points in a heavy-hitting, heavy-scoring engagement, the forecast is clear: fair weather for Gonzaga, and cloudy for the opposition. Important factors in this forecast are the many returning veterans, and also, of course, the same returning spirit that has always made Gonzaga mighty in baseball.

Although the track season is not finished before the LUIGIAN is published, it can be safely stated that the cindermen of '52 will vacate the league cellar and jump right into top spot. Previous teams have not had the enthusiasm that the present roster displays with pride. And along with spirit is strength in every event. Finally, to cap this combination of spirit and strength is a factor which in past years has not materialized so well as now: depth. Put the three together, and you have a championship in ready grasp—another group of Gonzaga greats.

THE BISHOP

PRIEST, PASTOR

"To Prayer and the Ministry of the Word."

—Bishop White's motto

RELIGIOUS, TEACHER

"For God and Country, for the Sciences and the Arts."

—Gonzaga's motto

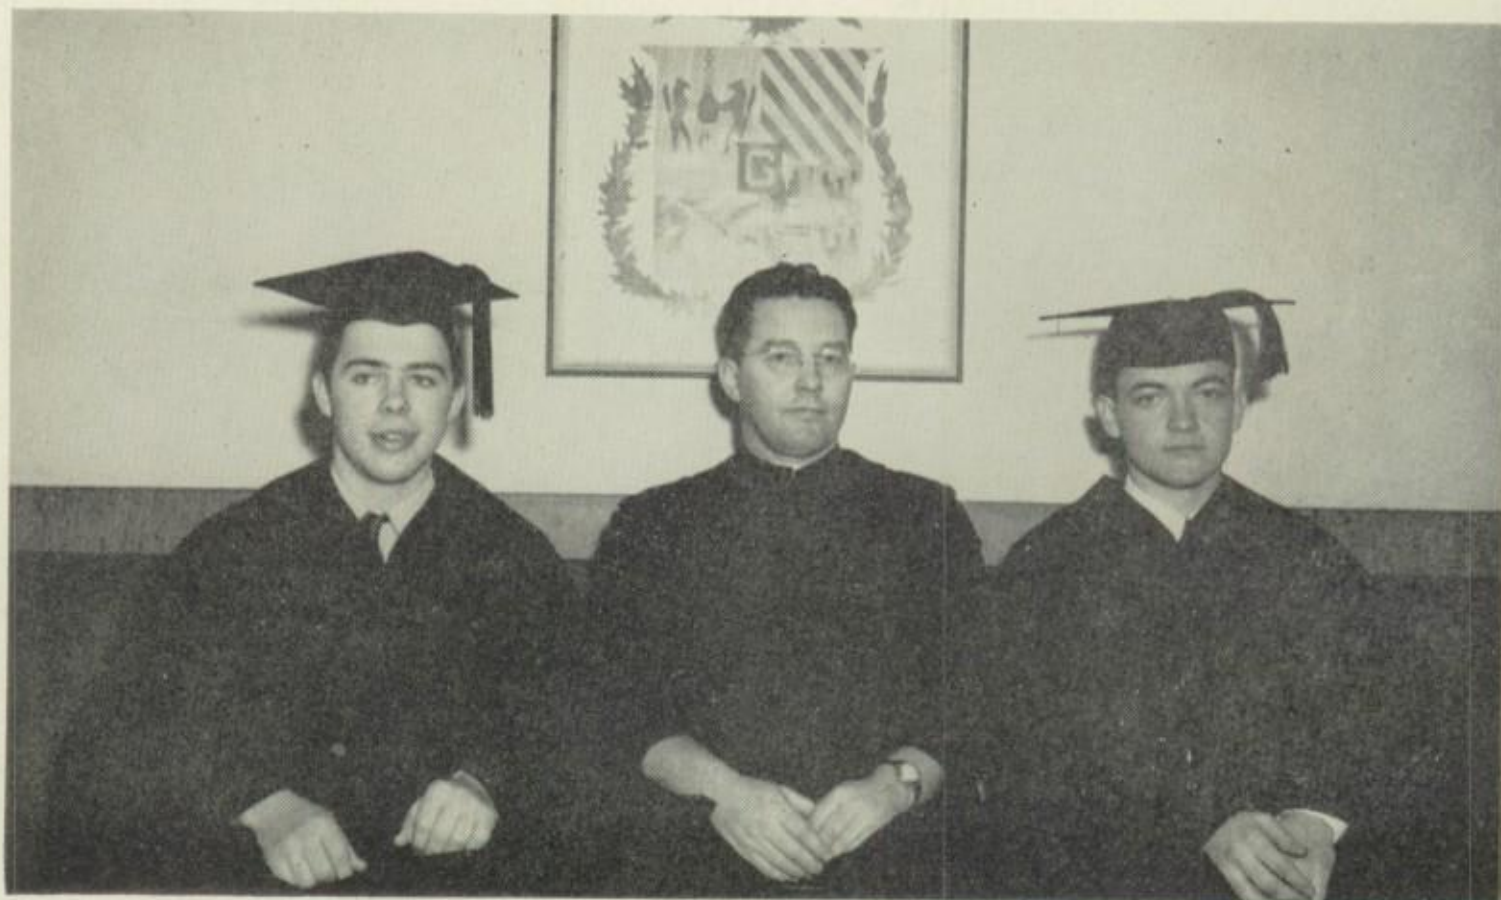

Four hundred years ago the challenge called "the modern world" first came to be; but through the succeeding generations the specific issues of that challenge have shifted and sharpened until now. And now they face us—a challenge at once to the competition, to the activity, to the very existence of the greatness that made us. And now we face them—we who are Catholics, and Americans, and on the last frontier of this world.

But as in times past, so now God has given us leaders to help us meet the challenge. First in leadership, as always, is the Bishop. His is the plenitude of Priesthood—in prayer; and the plenitude, under Peter, of Pastorate—in the ministry of the Word. And as in office so in person, his is the inspiration and example of greatness. Aid, as always, to the apostolic leadership of the Bishop is the consecrated man of God, and Companion of Jesus, the Religious. In contact with us directly, he applies that leadership that makes and keeps the greatness of Catholic manhood.

After our glance toward the past — whether the long two thousand years of our whole heritage or the short four years of our high school — we stand in the present, in this modern world of May, 1952. We, the graduates of Gonzaga, finish now our apprenticeship in greatness; and move on toward the future, and the challenge that awaits us. That challenge expects from us the same thing that made us — the true greatness of Catholic culture. To be a man and more than merely man, to be a member of Christ the God-Man, and actively so to the fullness of our being. That, under the leadership of our Bishop and our Alma Mater, is the greatness that should now be ours!

The last section of his book is about the graduates, the Class of '52. It is fitting that this section be reserved to them, for theirs is the position of climax and honor in the year which this book has portrayed. Often before have their names and faces occurred, for they were our leaders in the student body—in fact as much as in right; theirs is the credit for much that we did this year. But now, in the final and formal way that they deserve, the Graduates of 1952 pass in review.

As the Officers of the Class of 1952, the five seniors here pictured arranged the various matters connected with graduation—portraits, announcements, etc. Seated on either side of John Olson, President (center), are Phil Thompson, Vice President (left), and Kymph Workcuff, Secretary (right); and standing are Herb McDonald, Sergeant-at-Arms (left), and John Cafaro, Treasurer (right).

Graduates of Gonzaga! It is a title of pride and honor to us, as we bind up in those words the memories of our high school years. There is the past that shall always claim our hearts!

But we are reminded that the day of our graduation was a "commencement"—a beginning, therefore, and not an ending. So from the past to the future we must turn our gaze, to that life for which our years in high school have helped prepare us.

Fortunately, the long past of our school itself, and the many "futures" before ours that it nurtured, are a guide to us. Led by the greatest of our alumni, the Gonzagans who have become new Borromeos and Loyolas in the Priesthood, we must—the majority of us—become the lay Faithful of Christ, new Mores and Isadores, whose sons will find their "commencement" in life as their fathers did—as Graduates of Gonzaga.

One of the greatest helps we found at Gonzaga was the interest and cooperation shown by our parents and guardians. Their organization, the Philomatheia Club, lived up to its name, for it was indeed a "friend of scholars." As graduates now, we owe our school and our parents a future interest of our own in Philomatheia.

Bishop White with two of Gonzaga's most illustrious graduates: (left) the Most Reverend Robert J. Armstrong, D.D., G.H.S. '00, and Bishop of Sacramento; and the Most Reverend William J. Condon, D.D., G.H.S. '08, and Bishop of Great Falls. Gonzaga's third episcopal alumnus, not pictured here, is the Most Reverend Francis D. Gleeson, S.J., D.D., G.H.S. '11, and Vicar Apostolic of Alaska.

A part of the large crowd that filled the gym, Tuesday evening, November 6, for the biggest single event of Philomatheia's calendar, the annual Open House, where the parents meet the teachers and discuss their mutual problems. The First Quarter grades, just completed, furnished a good starting point for these discussions!

The Officers of the Philomatheia Club, 1951-1952: Mrs. W. T. Roberts, Junior Past President; Mrs. C. C. Cowell, Sergeant-at-Arms; Mrs. E. E. Tabscott, First Vice President; Mrs. E. L. Rowles, Treasurer; Mrs. Joseph McNabb, President; Mrs. E. M. Aughney, Secretary; Mrs. S. F. Sprague, Second Vice President; Mrs. Clark Upton, Historian.

As quickly as the perusal of this book the year has passed. In word and picture we have tried to tell the story of this year. We have tried—and failed. Too much remains unsaid and unseen.

But though the achievement may not be what we dreamed of, the effort was there. We truly tried. And for the ideal of such proportions as was ours, a whole year is not too long just to try.

The ideal remains, the ideal of greatness. And our leader to greatness, he too remains. With his blessing we finish this effort, and begin a new—

To the Greater Glory of God.
